MATTAPOISETT IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION
1904 - 1979 (75 years)

At the turn of the century the need of an Improvement Association in our town was growing even before any active measures were taken to give it life. It wasn't until August of 1904 that the organization took definite shape. By 1905 the membership had grown to over 200 members who generously contributed both their time and money for the success of the association.

The first officers were as follows: President, Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin; Vice President, Isaiah P. Atsatt; Secretary, Nathan S. Mendell; Treasurer, Harry W. Griffin. Mrs. Hamlin was to be re-elected President twenty-four more times. Under her leadership and dedication the association carried out an impressive list of projects which were to continue for many more years.

It is interesting to note that the organization's first project was the weekly collection of rubbish. A large wagon drawn by two horses and driver was contracted with Dennis Mahoney. Cost to the association was three dollars a week and later raised to four dollars. The dumping area used was on County Road, just east of Main Street, all marshland where now stands a row of houses.

Among the many projects of improvement in the years to follow were the placing of rubbish barrels at various spots in the village, the care of the bathing beach, the restoring of the artistic beauty of the "Arch Bridge" following the disfiguring by vandals, the undertaking of repairs which led to Marion. Along this trail could be seen old foundations and flowering lilac bushes showing signs of where founding fathers once lived. In 1908 the association undertook a beautification project that was to last 15 years before the town took over the costs -- the cleaning up of debris, leaves, fallen branches and trash from the streets. They acquired a push cart equipped with a shovel, broom and a long pole with steel pointer for the picking up of papers. A worker was hired and provided with blue denim overalls and a visored cap bearing the initials M.I.A., making a very impressive appearance, no doubt. Another notable project was the start of garbage collection from the many boats and yachts anchored in our harbor during the summer season. The service was free and the association provided the "garbage boat" and operator. Many years later this service was taken over by the town.

By far the most important accomplishment of the year 1912 was the establishing of a Visiting Nurse Service, the first in Plymouth County. In years to follow a Dental Clinic for school children was established, but not until much endeavor on the part of a special committee appointed for this purpose. An appeal to the Red Cross brought results. The Red Cross donated $300.00 worth of equipment to M.I.A.

who in turn obtained permission to install chair, sterilizer, etc. in the school building. The dentist charged the $15.00 weekly rate to the association, and in time, other organizations helped by sharing with this expense as rates increased. Also, in time, the school board made available running water installation which was gratefully appreciated by dentist, nurse and patient who considered it a great advantage!

There were many other programs initiated such as providing hot cocoa or soup at the school (Center) and the running of contests on subjects such as "how to improve our town" or "beautification of our town". Prizes were awarded to student winners for ideas considered best. Then, there was the sponsoring of both Boy and Girl Scout Troops for a great many years. Through the years, there were many more worthwhile programs ... all too numerous to mention here.

How was all this financed? Well, besides the membership dues, there were receipts from the sale of hundreds of books, the now widely read "Mattapoisett and Old Rochester", the flower shows, baked food sales and the great Summer Fairs held at our waterfront park.....all financially successful endeavors by a hardworking membership!

Somewhere in this town there will still be a number of people who recall other works by this association which was made up of "townies" and summer residents, all highly motivated community-minded. They have been the ones who initiated the present services that we now take so for granted. After this insight into aims and goals reached by this association, we can clearly see what an impact the organization had in the

Since the membership of the Improvement Association has dwindled considerably for several years, a realistic view has brought on a decision to dissolve. By unanimous vote it was agreed to turn over all liquid assets of the association to the Mattapoisett Historical Society. This decision was made in the belief that its aims and goals coincide with that of our Association, which, as that wonderful lady, Mrs. Hamlin, once said, "the most important things that can be done for the future of the town is to preserve the past as well as to look forward to the future".

HOUSE NUMBERS IN ROCHESTER

The Rochester Selectmen and Rochester Postmaster want to emphasize to all town residents the importance of using the new house numbers issued by the town last Fall. These numbers and only these numbers should now be affixed to each dwelling and mail box, if applicable, and addresses should be corrected for all mailing and delivery services. Any number formerly issued by the Post Office for rural delivery purposes should be removed.

The cooperation of the public in this matter is urgently sought since the effectiveness in rendering quick emergency services as well as assuring proper receipt of mail or commercial deliveries is directly related to 100% participation in the numbering system.

Lions Club

How much time, energy and money does it take to be an International Director? What is Lionism doing around the world and where will it be in the 80's? John Hoyle, International Director for Lions, will give the answers this Wednesday, January 9th, as the guest speaker at the meeting of the Mattapoisett Lions Club at the Harbor Beach Restaurant. Social hour starts at 6, followed by dinner.

Marion Art Center

Area artists and craftsmen will be interested to know of two upcoming group shows at the Marion Art Center. An exhibition of members' art will be the first of the 1980 season in the Cecil Clark Davis Gallery. Opening February 1 and continuing until February 23, the show will include paintings, prints, drawings, photography and sculpture. Work must be recent - 1979-80 - ready to be hung in the Gallery, and not shown previously at the Marion Art Center. The show will be juried by the Center's

SCHOOLS CLOSED JANUARY 14 & 15

A reminder to parents that the Old Rochester Regional School District and School Superintendency Union #55 schools will be closed on January 14 for teacher inservice day and on Tuesday, January 15 which is Martin Luther King Day, a state-mandated holiday. Regular school sessions will resume on Wednesday, January 16.

IN-SERVICE DAY AT ORRHS

An In-Service Day will be held at the Old Rochester Regional High School on Monday, January 14th, for all teachers in the Old Rochester District. Topic for the day will be "Individual Learning Styles".

Conducting the two morning workshops will be: Dr. Kenneth Dunn and Dr. Howard H. Kingsley. There will be 20 workshops held in the afternoon.

Dr. Dunn has been the Executive Director of a national consortium of school districts devoted to research and self-improvement, an adjunct Professor at Hunter College and a consultant on topics ranging from individualizing instruction to time

He is the author of more than 50 articles, research papers, pamphlets and books. He and his wife, Dr. Rita Dunn, a Professor at the School of Education and Human Services at St. John's University, received Education Press of America (EDPRESS) national recognition for their seven-part "Workshop In Print" articles in Instructor Magazine.

Dr. Kingsley, a Professor of Education at Fitchburg State College, is Director of the Developmental Reading Center and Chairman of the CAGS - Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study - Program in Individualized Instruction. As a staunch proponent of individualized instruction, he is using Educational Cognitive Style as a basic tool for instruction both at the undergraduate and graduate school levels. His previous experiences include many years in the Newton Public Schools as a junior high school classroom teacher and reading specialist, director of his own private summer school and reading clinic, and director of a Title III project to develop an individualized, process-centered educational program at the middle school level.

Dr. Kingsley, Dr. Lee DeNike, Dr. Anthony Abruzzese, and Dr. Lee Mullaly of the University of Florida are co-authors of Educational Cognitive Style, a "hands-on" laboratory which Curriculum Associates plans to publish in the near future. Additionally, Dr. Kingsley is the co-author of five reading programs specifically designed to meet the needs of severely disabled secondary school readers and adults. He is currently writing a paperback, More Stories of Suspense, consisting of fourteen stories adapted from the works of Edgar Allan Poe.

Dr. Kingsley has made presentations concerned with Educational Cognitive Style at national, state, and regional educational conferences and has conducted numerous inservice workshops which focus on the role of Educational Cognitive Style in individualizing instruction.

AFS

Mrs. John W. Nunes of Mattapoisett was the winner of $50.00 worth of meat from Neil's Meats in the recent raffle sponsored by the ORR Chapter of the AFS.

The ORR Chapter of AFS members met at the home of Mrs. Jossy Taylor for their regular monthly meeting to discuss plans for an upcoming bake sale and the annual International Potluck Dinner in early spring. Also discussed were plans for an international talent auction to be held at the dinner.

One of the ongoing fund-raising projects by AFS members and friends is the sale of coffee to Adult Education Classes on Tuesday evenings at Old Rochester Regional Junior and Senior High Schools.

Once again the AFS Chapter invites any interested persons to join their efforts in helping our foreign students become acquainted with our communities. Meetings are held on the first Thursday of each month. The February 7th meeting at 7:15 p.m. will be held at the home of Miss Polly Converse. For information call 748-0877, 748-2177 or 758-3805.

Blessing in Disguise

Editorial, D.C.J.

President Carter's address to the nation on the Russian invasion of Afghanistan began with the observation that we learn little from history. Certainly, this is obvious as regards his own outlook. For some others, history is the best teacher of all for it tends to repeat itself. Historically, the Soviet Russians have never made an agreement which does not give them an advantage and which they are not willing to break whenever their own self-interest is at stake.

Therefore, the President's decision to postpone the ramrodding of Salt II through the U.S. Senate may well be the greatest achievement of this administration.

The illegal seizure of 50 Americans on U.S. soil (the U.S. Embassy) which has been tolerated so long and patiently as to indicate the greatest indecisiveness and weakness on the part of U.S. leadership doubtless was a major factor in the Soviet decision to invade Afghanistan. The suffering of these 50 Americans will not have been in vain if it instructs the Carter administration that the Russians take advantage of every weakness and make no pact that does not advance their purpose of world communism.

The Russians did not build the Berlin wall to keep non-Communists out. The Soviets built their wall to imprison those who are desperate to escape. Salt II is a step toward another bigger "wall" to contain more slaves.

Happy New Year and many thanks to all who supported Pack 53's Christmas candle sales. Your support helps make Cub Scouting possible.

The December pack meeting had a surprise visitor this year. Santa came and gave the Cubs their Pinewood Derby car kits for the Pinewood Derby in March. Dads are reminded that Bob Garde again challenges them to an Adult Pinewood Derby. Kits will be available for those fathers taking up the challenge at the January pack meeting.

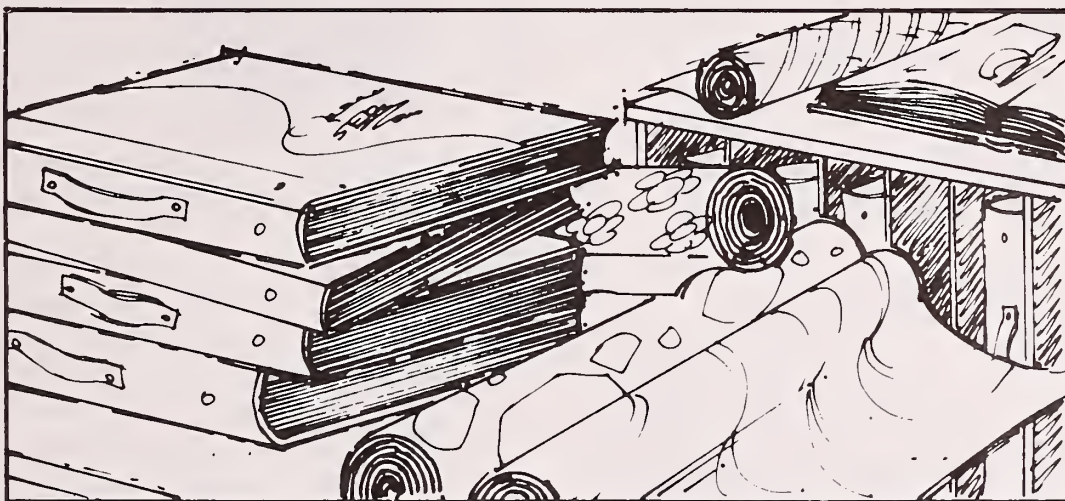

Several boys were busy in the last month. In the Webelos rank Todd Middleton earned his Aquanaut, Athlete, and Naturalist badges; Billy Collins completed both his Naturalist and Outdoorsman badges; Kevin Keene received his Aquanaut and Artist badges; Hunter Urion was awarded his Looking ahead to February, the Cubs will be celebrating Cub Scouting's 50th birthday. On February 3 scouts of all faiths are encouraged to take part in the Cub Scout Sunday service at St. Anthony's Church. Cubs will take an active part in the entire service and all are invited to attend.

The February 7th pack meeting will be the Blue and Gold Banquet celebrating Cub Scouting's 50th birthday. Reservations for the dinner, catered by Bob Carrier, will be available at the January pack meeting. Reservations must be returned by January 18th.

Once again, we send out a call to "retired" Cubs. If you have any memorabilia from your years of Cub Scouting and would be willing to share this, please call Bob Garde, Cubmaster, 758-9029.

The January pack meeting will be held at the Mattapoisett Congregational Church Hall January 10th at 7 p.m. In keeping with the month's theme of "Customs of Other Lands" our guest speaker will be Ms. Luice Moncevitich who will speak on this theme. So, come and enjoy this very talented and interesting speaker.

Ceremonies this month will be led by the Webelos and Den 4 will present a skit. Come and share what the Cubs have been doing in the dens this past month.

Veterans' Notes

The need for veterans to tell their families where important veterans' documents are kept cannot be overemphasized.

Safeguarding discharge papers, marriage certificates or child custody evidence from fire, theft or loss could be one of the most important legacies a veteran can leave his survivors. Among documents that should be protected and filed with family papers are government and commercial life insurance policies, any VA correspondence with identifying claim numbers, social security numbers, wills and where applicable, naturalization papers.

Families should be aware of possible survivor benefits. These include VA pensions, dependency and indemnity compensation for service-connected death, burial benefits and internment in a national cemetery.

A few minutes spent by the veteran organizing documents and informing his family can do much to avoid anguish during times of emotional stress.

Veterans should alert their families that information and assistance concerning benefits are available at the VA Regional Office, 321 South Main Street, Providence, the country with its versatility, its authenticity of style and its humor. The instruments that accompany the group include a viol, a countertenor, a pipe, a tabor, a lute, a baritone, flutes, recorders and krummhorns. While these five superb musicians spellbind the onlooker with melodic, humorous, and sometimes bawdy songs from the Age of Ferdinand and Isabella they also weave the program together with anecdote and dance.

The GREENWOOD CONSORT is winner of the Erwin Bodky Competition and has been named among High Fidelity/Musical America's Young Artists of the Year. The quintet has been enthusiastically received throughout the U.S. and as recently quoted from the New York Times, "they are disarmingly charming and very skilled musicians".

Tickets are on sale at the following locations: Win's Card Shop in Wareham, the Toy Box in Mattapoisett, the Bookstall in Marion, the Marion Pharmacy, or by calling Tabor Academy at 748-0590.

Children's Museum

The Children's Museum will hold its Annual Meeting, open to members and non-members, on Monday, January 14th, at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the church hall of St. Julie's, on 494 Slocum Road in North Dartmouth, behind Bishop Stang High School. A buffet dinner will be served promptly at 6:30 and will be catered by Bob Carrier, formerly of the Harbor Beach Club, Mattapoisett, and will feature Swedish Meatballs, Baked Stuffed Haddock, and Marinated Chinese Chicken.

The meal will be followed by a short business meeting, and the entertainment for the evening will be an illustrated talk by Hope Atkinson entitled, "Sojourn in Greece".

The Museum will be closed for the month of January and will reopen February 12th.

in the forest needed no watches to tell them when noon and suppertime had arrived, a hammering so all-pervading that old people still remember it as the dominant feature of Mattapoisett.

At first glance one might wonder why skilled craftsmen would leave established businesses and come to this out-of-the-way, almost uninhabited spot. But a moment's reflection will show that it possessed the prime requisites for a desirable shipbuilding location. Here was a fine harbor - in those days of small wooden ships the best between the North River and New Bedford. Here was a source of supply -- an almost untouched supply of virgin timber extending miles and miles inland. And close at hand was the third necessity - markets that were greedy for ships; for Nantucket's whaling and maritime commerce was booming, and the little village on the West side of the Acushnet River was sending out more and more vessels every year.

Charles Stetson's shipyard lay at the foot of Pearl Street extending from the present Town Wharf property over to where Mr.

Stackpole lives. His house, which was built before 1757, was, it is almost certain, the lovely old house now occupied by Mrs. Barklie. He must have prospered; for before long others came -- in 1760 Nathaniel Cushing from Pembroke and Gideon Barstow of the famous Barstow builders in Hanover; in 1762 Stephen Cushing from Pembroke; in 1767, Joshua Studley, and later Seth Barstow, from Tisbury; and from then on the property along the harbor passed to so many shipbuilders and with such frequency, that it is hard to keep track of it. Most of these men bought strips of land extending inland from the harbor half a mile or more. They built their houses and barns close to the shore, almost in their shipyards; and from these their plowed fields, pastures, and orchards stretched back; for in those pioneering days a shipbuilder was also a farmer if he wanted to eat.

Of course, at this early date, it is impossible to learn of the precise position of each shipyard, but in general it suffices to say that the Nathaniel Cushing yard lay in the corner of the harbor at Cannonville; the Joshua Studley and later Seth Barstow's yard between Mrs. Hinsdale's and the present Anchorage property. Of the vessels that were built before the Revolution nothing is known, save for one, and that only because it was named the Rochester and was wrecked off Nantucket in 1774 while starting on a whaling voyage. But from scattered sources we find that the shipyards were active; that more mariners came, more wharves were built, more men sailed south and returned with molasses, corn, and sugar; more men came to work in the shipyards, --- blacksmiths, blockmakers, sailmakers, caulkers, and various other craftsmen; and the houses along the cart-paths from shore to forest increased in number.

Yet as a whole, shipbuilders did not prosper in those days. Few people today realize what hard times existed in Massachusetts from 1760 to 1775, when the trouble between the colonies and England was coming to a boil. There was practically no money in those days. Even building a ship was done by barter -- each vessel was the property of a group of men who contributed either labor or materials toward her construction. Then if she were sold to some merchant in Nantucket or Dartmouth or Newport, he promised to pay for her out of the proceeds of her voyage. And her voyage was so apt to be a total loss. The mortality of those little vessels was tremendous; gales, uncharted coasts, French and Spanish privateers, pirates -- all took a heavy toll. If the merchant couldn't pay for the vessel, what happened to the shipbuilder who was responsible to the men who had financed her?

Charles Stetson, the first of the shipbuilders, furnishes a sad example of this. In 1767 and 1768 numerous court executions were obtained against him, and the plaintiffs in these cases show plainly with whom Stetson did business and for whom he built ships. They were Jonathan Burnell, Joseph Rotch, and Joseph Nicols of Nantucket, and Joseph Rotch, Jr. and John

McPherson of Dartmouth -- all important shipping merchants of those places, McPherson being the victim whose wharves, ships, and warehouses on the Acushnet River were burned by the British in 1778.

Stetson struggled along for over a year, selling his woodlots and saltmarshes piece by piece to pay off his debts, until finally there was but one left; and on a June day in 1768 the Constable rode along Pine Island Way, turned down the cartpath to the shore, drew up to the house still standing there, and pulled out a warrant.

And so the man who had first brought to the shores of Mattapoisett harbor the sawpit, the scaffolding, the ox-drawn loads of timber, and the ever sounding hammers of the caulkers went by the board and lost his shipyard. He continued to live in Mattapoisett, as did his sons, for they fought in the Revolution as Rochester soldiers; but when the war was over, the sons, and perhaps the old father, moved to New Bedford and established a shipyard quite a way north of the present bridge, where the Stetson sons built over 50 ships for the young village of New Bedford; and the descendants of these men were New Bedford whaling captains for many years..

But Charles Stetson was not the only one. Every shipbuilder who came to Mattapoisett before the Revolution failed -- save one. Gideon Barstow, who bought his first shipyard property from William Rotch in 1760, was as prosperous as his competitors were unfortunate, for he not only weathered the Revolution, but by 1784 he and his sons

AMERICAN HEART ASSOC. MEETING

The winter meeting of the American Heart Association, Cape and Islands Massachusetts Division will be held on Sunday, January 13, at Coonamesett Inn in Falmouth.

Immediately preceding the February 1980 fund drive, the members, directors and campaign volunteers will be informed of the activities of the Heart Association on the Cape & Islands. On-going programs of education and community service are funded locally by the fruits of the current campaign. Increased research support is also being asked of the various components of the American Heart Association.

Guest speaker following the dinner meeting is a well-known Cape resident, Noel Sabatt of Hyannis. Mr. Sabatt, who has long been affiliated with the local division of Heart in many capacities, will speak of his recent and personal ex-

STOP SMOKING CLINIC

Recent government surveys indicate that there is an increasingly negative attitude toward cigarette smoking, even among smokers. The increased awareness of health hazards on the part of the smoker seems coupled, however, with an ability to give up cigarettes. According to the survey report, nine out of ten smokers in the sample had tried unsuccessfully to give up the habit or would if an easy way to stop existed.

St. Luke's Hospital's Community Education Program along with the Greater New Bedford Unit of the American Cancer Society is co-sponsoring a Stop Smoking Clinic, designed for anyone who is looking for a way to break the difficult habit. The Stop Smoking Clinic will be held at St. Luke's Hospital on the nights of January 9th, 14th, 16th and 21st from 7:30 to 9:30. To pre-register anyone can call 996-6262, and a fee will be charged but is returnable upon completion of the Clinic.

TOWN OF MATTAPOISETT, MASSACHUSETTS PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a Public Meeting will be held to review the Flood Insurance Study and Flood Insurance Rate Map developed for the Town of Mattapoisett. Representatives from the Army Corps of Engineers and HUD will be present and any interested citizenry is invited to attend.
